The Town of Boylston joins the Central Mass. Mosquito Control service area

At the October 16, 2006 Special Town Meeting, Boylston residents voted to join the Central Mass. Mosquito Control Project effective July 1, 2007.

The Central Mass. Mosquito Control Project offers a full service, year round program of mosquito control consisting of six areas of service; larval mosquito control; adult mosquito control; adult mosquito surveillance & testing; wetland restoration and ditch maintenance; public education, and research and efficacy.

Work performed to date consists of site surveys and data logging of potential mosquito breeding habitat; surveillance and testing of mosquito adults, applications to area catch basins as part of our WNV control program, applications in wetlands to reduce emergence of adult mosquitoes, and distribution of public educational materials in town hall offices and the town library. Targeted spraying has begun in areas where residents have notified us of high mosquito populations. To exclude your property from mosquito pesticide applications, please notify the Town Clerk and the CMMCP office. To alert our office of high mosquito populations, you may request service online at www.cmmcp.org or by calling our office.

For more information on mosquito biology, our program and/or the pesticide exclusion process, please call CMMCP at (508) 393-3055 or log on to our website at www.cmmcp.org.
